Farciennes's Sport Hall

About

The Sports Hall in Farciennes has been built in an urban setting that is conducive to a radical transformation project, both in terms of planning and in terms of the new image we have given it. The project focused on the restructuring of the in-house traffic flows intended to rationalise the indoor spaces. The project is to be understood along the lines of four main design thrusts we put forward.

- ?A bold exterior image that is in close communication with the town of Farciennes
- ?A new admission system with a clear link between the public space and the inside
- ?A traffic flow system that restructures the inside of the building
- ?The large gym
