AGC GLASS BUILDING

Anno 2013, the AGC Glass Building, by Philippe Samyn & Partners, is one of the largest, almost energy-neutral office buildings in Belgium and was awarded a BREEAM certification of 'excellent' during the design phase.

The book wishes first and foremost to be a scientific reference work.

The design sketches, technical drawings, site photos and the photos taken by the Brussels photographer Marie-Françoise Plissart illustrate all the different aspects that are essential for the construction of a sustainable office building.
